

Happy Halloween Excerpt

Reminisce: About Your Halloween Memories

Talk about costumes. Do you now or did you ever enjoy costume parties?

Talk about the funniest, scariest, or most clever or elaborate costume you, a pet, or someone else wore for Halloween or any occasion.

Reminisce: About Your Halloween Memories

Talk about candy. What kind of Halloween treats do you (or did you) like giving or receiving? Did you ever get sick from eating candy?

A photograph of a tree with a thick brown trunk, heavily decorated with long, white, streamer-like garlands that hang down from the branches. The background shows green foliage and a building with a white roofline.

Reminisce About Your Halloween Memories

Talk about tricks. Did you ever play a Halloween trick on anyone? What did you do? Do you think some tricks are mean? (Throwing eggs, smashing pumpkins)

Reminisce: About Your Halloween Memories

Talk about scary things. Do you like scary stories and movies or visiting haunted houses? Talk about an experience that frightened you or that thrilled you in a way you found fun.

Reminisce: Halloween Memories

Talk about pumpkin carving and decorating your house and yard for Halloween. Did you do it? Talk about your best efforts or the best you saw.

How do you mend a broken jack o' lantern? With a pumpkin patch!

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

Urban legends are stories that spread like wildfire – sometimes around actual campfires – but may or may not be true. (Learn more at Snopes.com.)

Can you tell which of the following stories are true?

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

1. Baby alligators from Florida that were flushed down a toilet, grew into a thriving colony of large alligators living in the New York City sewer system.

2. That little bit of crunch in Fig Newtons could be due to the bugs that inadvertently get into the fig paste.

True X

False

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

The Food and Drug Administration allows for fig paste to have up to 13 insect heads per 100 grams. Because the fig flower relies upon wasps for pollination, many wasps end up harvested along with the figs, and are nearly impossible to eliminate entirely. Still, the crunch is mostly from the fig's seeds.

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

3. A young boy died from eating six bags of Pop Rocks and a six-pack of Coca-Cola that exploded in his stomach, killing him instantly.

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

False. Thank goodness. Although this legend had its origins in Europe more than 30 years ago, scientists have pointed out that this tale is impossible, because tarantulas live in holes in the ground and rarely venture to the surface.

Trivia quiz: True Scary Stories?

6. A man picked up a young female hitchhiker at an intersection late one night and drove her to the address she requested. When he pulled up to the house, he realized she had disappeared. He went to the house to ask about the girl, and the elderly couple living there informed him that the girl was their daughter, who had died many years ago in a car crash at that intersection.
